

We are very proud of our library and are passionate about books and reading!

We are currently part of a pilot project, in conjunction with the Book Trust and Local Authority, aiming to inspire children to read for pleasure.

We have asked our children to help us to identify any gaps in reading materials we already have and, as a result, have spent nearly £2000 on new books for the library. Some of the books were by authors or on subjects requested by the children; others were chosen by class teachers. The website www.booktrust.org.uk gave us lots of ideas about the most recently published, recommended books. It is really worth browsing this website which is full of ideas for young people of all ages as well as adults.
